How to use the tools in this resource:

The introduction and key messages in the introduction provide a basis for the knowledge and understanding required to work towards promoting mental health. The tiers of need can be found here along with the expectations on social care professionals in relation to supporting children and young peoples’ mental health.

Section 1 - Assessment

The resources in this section enable you to find out as much as possible about the needs of a child or young person to inform your next steps.

When to Worry
Level 1 - A general series of questions to establish cause for concern:
• If a young person or a child with a parent / carer presents to you asking for help, these are some questions that you may ask yourself, the child / young person or the parents / carer that may indicate cause for concern.
• They may be things that are discussed by the parent / carer or child / young person which may alert you.
• These questions may help you decide how serious the issues are, whether more information is needed, and where to signpost / refer families.

Assessing the risk / need
Level 2 - A further set of questions if a cause for concern is established and further information is required.
• If you think further information is needed to make an informed judgement, you may use the risk assessment to ask more refined questions about the child or young person’s mental health.
• The additional questions are open ended to encourage exploration when answers to the ‘When to Worry’ questions have not been volunteered or raised by the child, young person or parents / carers.
• Additional questions if suicide or deliberate self harm is the concern plus commentary on deliberate self harm.

Additional assessment tools
• Strengths and Difficulties Questionnaire - for establishing the level of need and area(s) of difficulty.
• CRAFFT screening tool – for substance misuse, pre requisite to accessing A-DASH.

What is mental health?

The term ‘Mental Health’ is often associated with mental ill health as opposed to being mentally healthy.

Mental ill health is often associated with specialist clinical interventions which sometimes contribute to a sense of low confidence among social care professionals to be able to help.

However, the 1999 Mental Health Foundation report Bright Futures defined children who are mentally healthy as able to:

- develop psychologically, emotionally, intellectually and spiritually
- initiate, develop and sustain mutually satisfying personal relationships
- use and enjoy solitude
- become aware of others and empathise with them
- play and learn
- develop a sense of right and wrong
- resolve (face) problems and setbacks and learn from them

These are all things universal professionals are able to contribute positively to, enabling our children and young people to have mental health.

Other key messages:

Social care teams provide a service to children, young people, families and carers with a high level of need. However, in terms of mental health, social care professionals provide tier 1 and some tier 2 interventions.

It is important to remember that not all children and young people facing adversity will experience mental health problems. The ability to cope with different circumstances and challenges is individual. Similarly, not all children and young people experiencing mental health problems will require a specialist or tier 3 intervention.

For many children and young people, school can be a safe place. It is important to work with schools and explore what can be accessed via or at school.

It is important to talk to children and young people and assess their emotional needs adequately. The assessment tools in this resource provide a range of questions which can be used. Do not underestimate the value of talking with and relating to a child or young person with emotional or behavioural issues.
Social services play a key part in mental health support and are essential partners in improving mental health and wellbeing outcomes:
Children’s services' responsibilities include working with the most vulnerable children and young people and their parents, large proportions of whom will need mental health support.

What Children’s Services can do:
• Work alongside CCGs, schools and wider children’s services to focus on early intervention and integrated support.
• Offer evidence-based parenting interventions to families with children at risk of conduct disorder and those experiencing conduct problems. Effective parenting support also needs to include the development of effective referral routes and awareness-raising, for example with local GPs, maternity services, health visitors and other services working with young families.
• Improve emotional support for children on the edge of care, looked after and adopted children. This can include establishing links with CAMHS to make appropriate referrals and offer integrated support, including support for adoptive parents of children with mental health problems. The children and young people’s IAPT programme will ensure that more children have timely access to evidence-based psychological therapies.

Section 1
Assessment
Level 1 - ‘When to worry’ questions for the concerned adult

Does the child or young person appear withdrawn, anxious, troubled, isolated, tearful, fidgety, flushed, trembling, very alert or avoiding eye contact?

Does the child or young person describe themselves as lonely, very sad, angry, worried, unable to concentrate, feeling picked on, disliking themselves, not wanting to be alive?

Has there been a reduction in attendance to school or college?

Is the child or young person often involved in fights or getting into trouble?

Has there been a gradual or sudden deterioration in school work?

Has there been a sudden disinterest in activities which they previously enjoyed or withdrawal from social life / interactions with friends?

Is the child or young person more irritable / moody than normal which could be considered out of normal range?

Is the child or young person feeling exhausted or tired all the time? Has there been a change in sleep pattern where the child/young person is having difficulty in sleeping or is sleeping for prolonged periods of time?

Has the child or young person been producing art work or creative work which is troubling?

For teenagers (or others where relevant), is the young person spending increasing amounts of time out late with friends where they could be misusing drugs / alcohol?

Has there been a change in eating habits, where the child or young person has reduced their dietary intake and started to lose weight or, have they increased the amount of food they eat and has started to put on weight?

Is the child or young person appearing distracted / suspicious and reporting a feeling that people are out to get them, hearing and seeing things which are not visible / audible to others?

Has the child or young person stopped looking after themselves adequately?

Is the child or young person hurting themselves on purpose or threatening to engage in risky behaviour?

Have they suffered a recent life event (such as a bereavement or involvement in an incident) which they are struggling to cope with?

Have parents any concerns about behaviour, presentation, and attitude? Are any behaviours affecting the family?

Use your responses to these initial When to worry questions and your judgements about the evidence you have collected to establish what to do next:

Imminent Risk:
Where imminent risk is identified, the child or young person should be taken to Accident and Emergency accompanied by their parents or with their consent.
Level 2 - Assessing the risk/need; questions for further information:

When meeting with the child or young person
- Discuss confidentiality and Safeguarding if necessary
- Discuss who knows about this and discuss contacting parents (Consider Gillick competency - www.nspcc.org.uk/inform/research/questions/gillick_wda61289.html)
  Support relationship building with parents if appropriate
- Discuss who you may need to contact i.e. GP, School, Specialist CAMHS
- Discuss possible sources of help – e.g. counselling, national websites, peer support

Initial questions (use as appropriate)

What has been happening?_______________________________________________________

Is something troubling you? (family, school, social)________________________________

How have you been feeling lately?_______________________________________________

Have you been getting on well with people?________________________________________

How have other people been treating you?_________________________________________

Have you been eating and sleeping well?___________________________________________

Have you been keeping healthy?__________________________________________________

Have you got any injuries or taken anything that needs attention? (consider emergency action, refer to additional questions in next section if self harm emerges)______________________________________________________

Who knows about this?__________________________________________________________

Have you thought about taking your own life? (consider likely or imminent harm, refer to additional questions in next section if suicidal intent emerges)______________________________________________________

Have you got what you need to harm yourself (how, do they have a plan)?
______________________________________________________________

Have you thought about when you would do it (timescales)?

Are you at risk of harm from others?_____________________________________________

What would you like to happen next?_____________________________________________

Use your responses to these risk assessment questions and your judgements about the evidence you have collected to establish what to do next.
Self Harm

Self harm has become a heavily stigmatised and stigmatising term leading some professionals to feel deskilled on discovering the behaviour.

‘Self-harm is more common than many people realise, especially among younger people. A survey of people aged 15-16 years carried out in the UK in 2002 estimated that more than 10% of girls and more than 3% of boys had self-harmed in the previous year.

In most cases, people who self-harm do it to help them cope with unbearable and overwhelming emotional issues, caused by problems such as:
• social factors – such as being bullied, having difficulties at work or school, or having difficult relationships with friends or family
• trauma – such as physical or sexual abuse, or the death of a close family member or friend
• mental health conditions – such as depression or borderline personality disorder

These issues can lead to a build-up of intense feelings of anger, hopelessness and self-hatred. Although some people who self-harm are at a high risk of ending their lives, many people who self-harm do not want to end their lives. In fact, the self-harm may help them cope with emotional distress so they don’t feel the need to kill themselves.’

NHS Choices

As well as treating physical injuries, it is important to speak to children and young people about them. Self harm is individual and can present in many different guises as well as in response to a range of motives.

It is important to respond to every child or young person who self harms. Self harm is sometimes seen as a cry for help, in which case, help should be given. Self harm is usually a hidden behaviour which helps the individual cope with difficult feelings, traumatic experiences or as a result of mental health problems.

However, some individuals may be motivated to self harm as a result of media influences, inappropriate advice or encouragement from websites or chat rooms, experimentation, in order to influence relationships or as a result of social contagion. In order to assess the risk and provide appropriate support, professionals need to speak to children and young people about their motives for self harm.

Self harm can also be indirect; eating disorders, substance misuse, risk taking behaviours for example.

Boys may exhibit self harm in the form of deliberate recklessness, self batter, punching walls, getting into fights etc.
Further questions if self harm or suicidal behaviour is the concern

What, if any self-harming thoughts and behaviours have you considered or carried out? (Either intentional or unintentional – consider likely / imminent harm)

____________________________________________________________________________

If so, have you thought about when you would do it?

____________________________________________________________________________

Are you at risk of harm from others?

____________________________________________________________________________

Ask about the young person’s health (use of drugs / alcohol)?

____________________________________________________________________________

What other risk taking behaviour have you been involved in?

____________________________________________________________________________

What have you been doing that helps?

____________________________________________________________________________

What are you doing that stops the self-harming behaviour from getting worse?

____________________________________________________________________________

What can be done in school to help you with this?

____________________________________________________________________________

How are you feeling generally at the moment?

____________________________________________________________________________

What needs to happen for you to feel better?

____________________________________________________________________________
Responses to these questions from the SELF INJURY SCALE would also be helpful:

SEVERITY – How severe is the situation?

_____________________________________________________________________________

Do the wounds need medical attention – do they need sutures?

_____________________________________________________________________________

Do they need more than basic first aid?

_____________________________________________________________________________

Do they need dressings?

_____________________________________________________________________________

Has the young person taken an overdose? If yes attend A&E

_____________________________________________________________________________

INTENT – Was it the young person’s intention to kill themselves?

IF YES DO NOT LEAVE THEM ALONE

_____________________________________________________________________________

Has there been a previous suicide attempt?

_____________________________________________________________________________

CRAFFT Tool – Drug / Alcohol assessment tool

A-DASH

Drug/Alcohol Assessment tool for use with young people.

Evidence from young people accessing the Adolescent Drug and Alcohol Service in Hertfordshire (A-DASH) suggests that they did tell someone about their drug use early in their drug using history, but it was ignored.

CRAFFT is a multi-agency tool that will enable staff as part of any assessment process to identify young people’s drug and alcohol use early. The tool consists of CRAFFT questions that have been validated in the USA.

You do not need specialist drug knowledge to use this ‘tool’. The idea is to ensure early drug and/or alcohol use is identified and the appropriate services and responses are provided.

The questions can contribute to other assessment processes e.g. CAF, ASSET. It can also be used in a discussion with a young person about their drug use.

If you require further support or training to complete CRAFFT please call A-DASH for assistance.

Trigger questions:

- Do you have concerns regarding a young person’s drug use?
- Has drug and/or alcohol use/misuse been mentioned in an assessment or discussion?

If the answer is yes to one of the above then ask all the CRAFFT six questions

SCORING

If a young person under 14 years of age answers yes to 1 or more of these questions then this indicates the need to have a consultancy conversation with A-DASH - see contact details below.

If a young person between 14 - 18 years of age answers yes to 2 or more questions then this indicates the need to have a consultancy conversation with A-DASH - see contact details below.

If the young person does not require or declines any targeted or specialist intervention, you can call A-DASH to discuss the situation on a ‘what if’ basis without having to disclose the name, address etc of the client. Depending on the age of the client, integrated practice arrangements may need to be undertaken.

The Adolescent Drug and Alcohol Service for Hertfordshire (A-DASH) provides professional advice to staff or parents on young people’s drug and alcohol use, harm minimisation, treatment and support. A-DASH also provides a service for young people under 18 in Hertfordshire who have issues/problems with their own drug and/or alcohol use.

Contact A-DASH on 01923 427288 or email A-DASH@hertspartsft.nhs.uk or text 07770 53722

In relation to the CRAFFT tool ‘Drugs’ refers to medicines, volatile substances, alcohol and illegal drugs.

The Strengths and Difficulties Questionnaire (SDQ)

Evidence suggests that looked after children are nearly 5 times more likely to have a mental health disorder than all children.

Local authorities in England are required to provide information on the emotional and behavioural health of children and young people aged four to 16 in their care. These data are collected by local authorities through Goodman’s (1997) Strengths and Difficulties Questionnaire (SDQ) and the total difficulties score is submitted to the Department for Education through the SSDA903 data return.

The SDQ is a short behavioural screening questionnaire. It has five sections that cover details of emotional difficulties; conduct problems; hyperactivity or inattention; friendships and peer groups; and also positive behaviour, plus an impact supplement to assist in the prediction of emotional health problems. The SDQ has been internationally validated.

The Independent Review Team will distribute and explain how to use the questionnaires on an annual basis to carers of those who have been looked after for 12 months or more. Newly looked after children will have an SDQ completed at first and second reviews (four and 12 weeks). The questionnaire should be completed by the main carer.

The SDQ requires carers to read a series of statements and judge how well it describes the young person by ticking one of three or four boxes for each question. Completion should take between 5 to 10 minutes.

The carers’ SDQ questionnaire is designed in such a way that no formal training should be necessary. It is sufficiently straightforward to enable them to complete the questions easily. However, where a carer has difficulties in understanding why or how to complete the questionnaire you may want to offer assistance, e.g. by discussing the questionnaire with the carer.

- explain what the questionnaire is for and why it is important for them to complete it EG it enables identifying problems early so that support is put in place to help the child.
- explain that it is important to be honest in their assessments and that the SDQ is a screening tool to help the child and is not an assessment of or reflection of how well they care for the child;
- remind the carer that they know the child well and are ideally placed to be able to give meaningful insights in responding to questions.
- Advise we are collecting this data so that nationally we have an overall indication of the level of difficulty there might be in the looked after population and this data will inform the national indicator.

When a high score is present (15 +) social workers will be alerted by Brokerage that this is the case. The social worker should then triangulate the main carer data with the views of the child or young person and his/her teacher by using the SDQ questionnaires designed for young people and teachers in addition. Once all of the data has been collated, you will be in a position to take appropriate action based on the scores, impact and risk. Actions may include the following:

- A discussion with the child or young person. A discussion with the carer.
- Use of further screening tools (see risk assessment questions in this document)
- Informal consultation with specialist or targeted CAMHS or immediate referral depending on scores, impact and risk.
- Identifying alternative appropriate support EG counselling, mentoring, protective behaviours, resilience building etc (see resources listed in this resource for ideas for work you can deliver with children and young people).
Social workers will need to send completed SDQs, scores, actions and outcomes to the LAC Health Team as part of the annual health assessment referral process. Where Specialist or targeted CAMHS are providing an intervention, paired SDQ scores will be provided to the social worker after 6 to 8 months and / or at the end of the intervention. Where an alternative intervention has been delivered, the social worker should undertake a six month review of the child or young person’s SDQ score.

The SDQ and related information can be accessed and downloaded without charge at: www.sdqinfo.com

Counselling in Schools Service 01992 588796
The counselling in schools service currently works with children and young people aged 4-21 years old living in Hertfordshire. Most children or young people are seen in schools by one of our qualified therapists but they can also be seen in the community. We offer quality assured counselling and arts therapies and work with a wide variety of emotional health and wellbeing issues according to the needs of the child/young person. http://www.hertsdirect.org/services/edlearn/schlife/counsch/

Brief Therapy
is also available through Specialist Services. The Brief therapy is a service for young people aged 11-19 which has proved to be very successful in helping to find solutions to issues and making change happen. Issues may include anxiety and depression, drug and alcohol problems and relationship difficulties. The Brief Therapist supports the young person to think through the changes they want to make and decide how to achieve them. Young people can be seen either in school/colleges or in appropriate community venues such as Connexions centres. Contact Louise or Maureen for an initial discussion prior to emailing a SSR:

Integrated Services for Learning (ISL)
This service provides support for children and young people with additional and special educational needs across the county. ISL aims to provide high quality services to support schools and other learning settings to improve outcomes for children and young people with difficulties that affect their access to learning. With a wide range of expertise within Integrated Services for Learning (ISL) the work includes direct intervention with individuals and systemic support to settings. ISL staff work closely with schools, settings, families and other services to meet the needs of children and young people with a range of learning, behavioural, emotional and social difficulties.
http://www.thegrid.org.uk/leadership/isl/introduction.shtml

The ISL Teams consist of the following services:
Education Support Centres (including the Education Support Teams for Medical Absence), Attendance, Educational Psychology, Early Years, SEND (Special Educational Needs and Disability), Specialist Teachers and support staff for autistic spectrum conditions, Speech, language and communication and sensory and physical impairments and an Access to Education for Travellers and Refugees Team. Information on the teams and the support available is available by following the link below:
http://www.thegrid.org.uk/leadership/isl/contacts.shtml

Access to support and advice about individual children from any of the ISL teams is through a service request form with the exception of requests for statutory assessments of SEN which should go through the established Hertfordshire processes. The ISL teams will also attend Team Around The Family (TAFs) meetings when appropriate as part of the Common Assessment Framework and Early Support.
MASH - Multi agency safeguarding hub
The MASH brings together Police, Probation, Safeguarding Nurses and Children’s Services staff, working together as a team, to share information and decision making about the best way to safeguard and meet the needs of vulnerable children in Hertfordshire.

The Hertfordshire MASH will deal with contacts and referrals sent by members of the public and professionals to Children’s Services for a safeguarding response. Where the MASH team consider that the child’s welfare will be better met by early help services, they will ensure referrals get to the most appropriate teams and will inform professional referrers the outcome of their request for a safeguarding assessment. The main advantages of a MASH, is that by having key agencies working together, the time taken in gathering information from other agencies, is reduced. Reports that appear to indicate high risk to children will require a response to information requests within 4 hours, medium risk within 24 hours and low risk contacts will be passed to the Early Help desk within 72 hours. MASH has in place a Consultation Line for practitioners where practitioners are unsure whether the Safeguarding & Specialist Services threshold has been met (i.e. where the safeguarding need may be unclear); practitioners may seek advice and guidance using the Consultation Line (set out below). *There is, however, an expectation that practitioners would have first consulted their line manager and/or safeguarding lead before contacting MASH.

Practitioner Consultation Line at MASH: Tel: 01438 737511 (For use by practitioners only and NOT to be given out members of the public)

Office Hours: Mon-Thu 09:00-5:30 Fri 09:00-16:30
As a partnership the MASH is committed to joining up information sharing, decision making and support for Hertfordshire’s vulnerable families, across the Early Help and Safeguarding spectrum as much as possible. Thriving Families 01992 556873
Thriving Families works across a number of agencies in Hertfordshire to help our most vulnerable families to turn their lives around. We work with families to make sure they get the right support from the right people at the right time. The help we provide depends on each family’s situation, but examples of issues we help with include:
• Parenting skills.
• Improving school attendance.
• Training to help find a job.
• Housing problems.
• Managing money and debt.

Thriving Families is for families where two or three of the following apply:
• Adults are finding it hard to get work and are receiving out of work benefits.
• Children are not attending school regularly or have been excluded repeatedly.
• Children are involved in crime or families are getting into trouble because of their behavior.

Where families only meet two of the criteria above, they must also be affected by:
• Mental health difficulties.
• Adult learning difficulties or disabilities.
• Domestic abuse.
• Risk of losing their home.
• Failure to take up an early years education place they are entitled to.

Families First
Early help (Families First) in Hertfordshire aims to ensure all key partner agencies take a cohesive and co-ordinated approach and collectively maximise their resources to empower children, young people and families and help them to become more resilient. We want to provide support to families before their needs escalate and help them retain control and responsibility for their futures.

In Hertfordshire, ‘early help’ (Families First) has been defined as:
“Taking action to support a child, young person or their family, early in the life of a problem, ideally as soon as it emerges. It can be at any stage in a child’s life from pre-birth to adulthood, and applies to any problem or need that the family cannot deal with or meet on their own.”

Effective early help requires a whole family approach and all stakeholders working with children, young people and families. This includes:
Health
Police
Probation
Early years providers and children’s centres
Schools and local schools partnerships
Children’s services
Adult services
District councils
Housing
Faith groups
Voluntary and community organisations
The public

Families are telling us that:
• They want to have access to support early, before their situation gets to crisis point
• They do not know where to go for early help when they need some support
• It is very difficult to know what services are available and how to access them
• Most help is available when their family is in crisis

Practitioners are telling us that:
• Currently, families need to fit their needs around services
• Communication needs to be improved across all partners offering early help services, especially feedback on referrals and better ways of working between partners and the council
• There needs to be a more consistent approach across localities (linking in key areas) offering early help services
• They want to have access to support early before the situation gets to crisis point
• They do not know where to go for early help when they need some support
• It is very difficult to know what services are available and how to access them
• Most help is available when a family is in crisis

School Nurses
School nurses provide a service to all children attending mainstream schools in Hertfordshire. The service is provided by school nurses and Community Paediatricians who are specially trained in child health care and they work closely with GPs, health visitors, dentists, podiatrists, speech and language therapists, physiotherapists, occupational therapists, educational psychologists, dieticians, child and adolescent mental health (CAMHS) and Children’s Services. In their public health role school nurses work in partnership with schools and the National Healthy Schools programme and provide health promotion relating to the schools sex & relationship education and drug and alcohol use programmes, mental health and bullying and obesity issues, as well as other wider determinants of health and inequalities. Each school has an allocated school nurse with whom parents and teachers can discuss any special concerns.

Local Partnership of Schools
All schools in Hertfordshire, maintained, academy, special etc are grouped into clusters known as local school partnerships. The prime purpose of these partnerships is to ‘remove barriers to learning’ where family circumstances are hindering the attainment of pupils. There are 19 local school partnerships, varying in size, within Hertfordshire. Each one has an established lead school. The key responsibility of the local school partnerships is to provide a school family work service to the group of schools which they serve. School family workers work directly with families, parents, carers and the school to enable children and young people, at risk of not achieving, to unlock the difficulties which are preventing pupils getting the most out of their education.

Specialist and Targeted CAMHS
Mental ill health refers to persistent, complex and severe emotional or behavioural difficulties which are beyond a normal response to life problems. If interventions at Tier 1 and Tier 2 have not been successful and needs begin to escalate, a referral to your local Tier 3 CAMHS Child and Family clinic or another Tier 3 service may be required.

Tier 3 services are for children and young people with a very high level of need, so consider carefully the propriety of referring. Consider also the implications of pursuing a mental health service for a child or young person who is experiencing a normal response to life problems.

A Tier 3 service should not be pursued if counselling or Tier 2 provision is more appropriate. A Tier 3 service is not a substitute for a Tier 2 service. See Matching Need to Intervention table earlier in this resource for further clarification.

A referral to a mental health service is not appropriate where emotional or behavioural symptoms are in response to inadequate care. Where a child or young person is moved to a situation of good care and difficulties persist, a service from specialist CAMHS may be useful.

Where care is not adequate, consider if the parent or carer is motivated to make changes and attend appointments.

Targeted and specialist CAMHS are not services where children or young people are encouraged to disclose specifically.

Advice / pre referral consultations are offered as part of the targeted CAMHS service. These are held regularly at sites across the county. If you are considering making a referral or would like some advice, you are encouraged to attend an informal session.
Similarly, where progress is not being made in existing cases and the professional network is unsure what to do next, a one off, multi agency consultation with a CAMHS professional can provide a reflective space which may help move the situation forward.

If parental mental ill health is having a negative impact on a child or young person, the TAS now has an interface team to support holistic multi agency support for the whole family 01438 737511.

16 and 17 year olds can self refer to the Wellbeing Team, previously known as the Enhanced Primary Mental Health Service (EPMHS). Visit the website for more info and referral form: http://www.hpft.nhs.uk/our-services/community-services/enhanced-primary-mentalhealthservices/

Use the referral form in this resource and contact the Single Point of Access on 0300 777 0707. Referrals can be sent by post: Single Point of Access (SPA), 99 Waverley Road, St Albans, AL3 5TL or faxed to 0300 777 0808.

In an emergency, the child or young person should be taken to Accident and Emergency.

Out of hours (5PM to 8AM), the HPFT Mental Health Helpline can be contacted on 01438 843322. Between 8AM and 7PM, call the Single Point of Access on 0300 777 0707.

The ARC Service
The ARC service is a specialist multi-disciplinary team that brings together health, education and social care in supporting traumatised children and their families and carers. We work to the Attachment, Self-Regulation and Competency model which enable us to work with children and young people who have complex needs, helping them to create secure attachments and build on their resilience. We support families, carers and schools in providing them with tools, skills and understanding to enable them to support their children.

Our team is made up of specially trained ARC workers, therapists, psychiatrist, advisory teacher, social workers and specialist foster carers. This enables us to target the specific needs of the children and young people, utilising the resources and skills of the appropriate service and professionals within our team.

The ARC service brings together five teams; The Lakes Outreach and Residential, The Springs, Datchworth Project and Specialist Fostering. The Lakes outreach, The Springs and Datchworth offer outreach support working in the community for children and young people aged under the age of 18. The Lakes residential is a three bedded unit which offers two 28 day beds for intensive support with our multi-disciplinary team in assessing the young person, future support and placement needs.

We work alongside our partner agencies and other professionals in supporting our children to improve their outcomes. We hold regular reviews with key professionals and the case holding social worker in supporting the care plan.

Attention Deficit Hyperactivity Disorder/Attention Deficit Disorder
Hertfordshire Partnership Foundation Trust can accept referrals for ADHD via the Single Point of Access (SPA). Appropriate referrals will be assessed for either a paediatric or CAMHS service or a joint clinic depending on the child. ADHD or ADD is not always a problem. ADD-vance is a constituted voluntary organisation and is run by parents and carers. ADHD and ASD are lifelong conditions which can affect all aspects of a person’s life.   PALMS, Referral Coordinator, St Albans Children’s Centre, Church Crescent, St Albans, AL3 5JB

Reasonable adjustments in mainstream services
Broad indicators that reasonable adjustments can be made for children with autistic spectrum disorder (ASD) and/or a global learning disability include:
• the child/young person has a mild learning disability;
• the child/young person has a diagnosis of high functioning autism or Asperger’s syndrome;
• the child/young person attends mainstream school (attending a SEN school does not automatically exclude);
• the child/young person is able to express what happens when they experience strong emotions and/or they are able to identify what happens to their body and/or they are able to identify their thoughts;
• the child/young person is able to express themselves through verbal and/or non-verbal communication.
PALMS is unable to accept referrals where:
• the purpose of the referral is for a primary ASD and/or learning disability diagnosis;
• the child/young person has learning difficulties and not a diagnosis of ASD and/or a global learning disability;
• the child/young person is experiencing mental health concerns that with a reasonable adjustment could be met within mainstream specialist CAMHS;
• the child/young person is experiencing difficulties which are principally education based;
• the key concerns can be met within other specialist services e.g. Speech and Language Service/ Occupational Therapy Service.

Where can I find out more or have my queries about PALMS answered?

One Herts One Family is a WDP and Safer Places project that works with children, parents and families in Hertfordshire with a variety of complex needs, one of which must be domestic abuse or drug and alcohol problems, which are or have been impacting on the wellbeing of the parents and children. Other needs can include parenting support and advice, unemployment, mental health, debt and housing or benefit problems. http://www.wdp-drugs.org.uk/pages/onehertsonefamily.html

Health needs
Some children with health problems may feel isolated as a result. In some cases, it may support their wellbeing to be introduced to others in the school with similar medical conditions as a peer support mechanism.

The Health Visitor or School Nurse can support with issues around; substance misuse, exercise, nutrition/diet, weight, parenting, smoking, alcohol, disability, disease, sexual health / contraception, etc. Any child with health/medical needs should have an Individual Health Care Plan, and relevant guidance and procedures in place to assist with giving medical, dressings etc – contact the School Nursing Service for advice. Also visit NHS Direct http://www.nhsdirect.nhs.uk/

The Education Support Team for Medical Absence (ESTMA) ensures that educational provision is put in place for children unable to attend school for medical reasons. Wherever possible and appropriate, children and young people are supported to return to a local school. ESTMA is now part of the Education Support Centre support. Contact your local ESC for more information or call the Customer Service Centre on 0300 123 4043 to be directed to your local area team. http://www.hertsdirect.org/services/healthsoc/childfam/specialneeds/educ/isl/edsupteam/

TYSS is also responsible for delivering a youth justice service. Schools can access this service via sending a SSR to the Customer Service Centre. www.hertsdirect.org/comdirectory/comvol/accom2y/actemp3y/homelessnessadvice/877372

Housing Needs

Mental ill health

Mental ill health refers to persistent, complex and severe emotional or behavioural difficulties which are beyond a normal response to life problems. If interventions at Tier 1 and Tier 2 have not been successful and needs begin to escalate, a referral to your local Tier 3 CAMHS Child and Family clinic or another Tier 3 service may be required.

Tier 3 services are for children and young people with a very high level of need, so consider carefully the propriety of referring. Consider also the implications of pursuing a mental health service for a child or young person who is experiencing a normal response to life problems.

A Tier 3 service should not be pursued if counselling or Tier 2 provision is more appropriate. A Tier 3 service is not a substitute for a Tier 2 service. See Matching Need to Intervention table earlier in this resource for further clarification.

A referral to a mental health service is not appropriate where emotional or behavioural symptoms are in response to inadequate care. Where a child or young person is moved to a situation of good care and difficulties persist, a service from specialist CAMHS may be useful. Where care is not adequate, consider if the parent or carer is motivated to make changes and attend appointments.

Targeted and specialist CAMHS are not services where children or young people are encouraged to disclose specifically.

Advice / pre referral consultations are offered as part of the targeted and specialist CAMHS service. These are held regularly at sites across the county. If you are considering making a referral or would like some advice, you are encouraged to attend an informal session.

Similarly, where progress is not being made in existing cases and the professional network is unsure what to do next, a one off, multi agency consultation with a CAMHS professional can provide a reflective space which may help move the situation forward.

If parental mental ill health is having a negative impact on a child or young person, the TAS now has an interface team to support holistic multi agency support for the whole family 01438 737511.
16 and 17 year olds can self refer to the Wellbeing Team, previously known as the Enhanced Primary Mental Health Service (EPMHS). Visit the website for more info and referral form: http://www.hpft.nhs.uk/our-services/community-services/enhanced-primary-mentalhealthservices/

Use the referral form in this resource and contact the Single Point of Access on 0300 777 0707. Referrals can be sent by post: Single Point of Access (SPA), 99 Waverley Road, St Albans, AL3 5TL or faxed to 0300 777 0808.

In an emergency, the child or young person should be taken to Accident and Emergency.

Out of hours (5PM to 8AM), the HPFT Mental Health Helpline can be contacted on 01438 843322. Between 8AM and 7PM, call the Single Point of Access on 0300 777 0707.

Parenting Support

It may not be easy for parents to see a link between their child’s emotional and mental health difficulties and their parenting, and it may difficult for them to ask for or accept help with this. This may need to be suggested in a very gentle way. There are some School Family Workers attached to lead schools/local partnerships and Outreach Workers in the majority of Children’s Centres. They may need to work in liaison with Health Visitors for the under fives and School Nurses for the over fives.

Parenting courses are available throughout Hertfordshire, including the Strengthening Families, Strengthening Communities courses http://www.hertsdirect.org/services/healthsoc/childfam/hertsstrengfam for parents of children aged 8-16, run by the Youth Justice Service, and a range of other targeted parenting programmes commissioned by the Childhood Support Services: http://www.hertsdirect.org/services/edlearn/css/17856920 These include specific courses designed to address anger management, or to support parents of children with ADHD, autistic spectrum disorders or other special educational needs and disabilities. There may be issues that are significantly serious that would need to involve other teams such as Targeted Youth Support or Thriving Families Teams – some services can be accessed via a Common Assessment or Service Request Form. Ring Targeted Advice Service (TAS) – 01438 737511 for further information.

My Baby’s Brain is a project which explains to parents of small children 0-3 the importance of attachment and the things they do every day with their babies and toddlers, in helping the brain to develop in these vital early months and years. Secure attachment has a vital part to play, not only cognitively but on the growing child’s emotional and social development. All children’s centres and most health visitors have someone trained in My Baby’s Brain and can give more information. Also there is a My Baby’s Brain website: www.hertsdirect.org/mybabysbrain with useful information and downloadable resources.

This may be linked to parenting issues about communicating with children and giving them opportunities to use their speech.

Substance Misuse - see Drugs and Alcohol

Violence and aggression (young person)
For issues in the home or community, the Child Development Clinic may provide some support (for those with ASD or a global learning disability, the CDC may pursue a referral to the Challenging Behaviour Psychology Service).

If criminal behaviour is present, you may wish to contact your local police team who can be contacted by dialling 101.

With adolescents, some support may be gained from the Specialist Adolescent Team via a CAF. If there are younger children in the house they may have unmet emotional needs that perhaps should trigger a CAF.

Young Carers
Young Carers are children or young people between 9-18 years old who help care for family members who may be ill, have a physical or mental disability, or drug or alcohol problem. There are a range of services and support for young carers within school and Youth Connexions. Making a referral to Specialist or Targeted CAMHS

Single Point of Access CAMHS Referrals

The Single Point of Access known as SPA accepts referrals to HPFT services for children and young people from a variety of sources, and from professionals and parents.

Referrals are received by:
Telephone: 0300 777 0707
Fax: 0300 777 0808
Email: spa.intref@hpft.nhs.uk
Letter: Single Point of Access
Hertfordshire Partnership University NHS Foundation Trust
99 Waverley Road
St Albans
Hertfordshire
AL3 5TL

SPA accepts telephone referrals from professionals however a written referral will also be required, with both basic and specific information. When referring to the Targeted Service it is useful to use the specific form attached to the appendix, and to include scored SDQs with the referral as this will speed up the process.

The multi service mental health referral form can be used to capture the appropriate information. However, when referring to the targeted service it is useful to complete the specific form in this resource. In any referral, completion and inclusion of a scored SDQ will speed up the process.

Required basic information:
- Name
- DOB,
- NHS Number
- Current address and up to date telephone numbers
- GP details
- Details of professionals involved and their full contact details.

Please confirm that the parent/guardian has consented to this referral for children and young people under 16. For 16 & 17 year olds please confirm whether the young person has consented, and provide information about whether parent/guardian are aware of the referral and difficulties and what information if any can be shared.

Please note if a child or young person is experiencing mental health problems then it is appropriate for them to be seen by their GP. Please advise this and agree to cc the GP into the referral. SPA request medical summaries from GP’s for all referrals.

If the child is open to Children’s Services then please supply full details about who the allocated Social Worker is, from what team, and whether there is a Child Looked After, Child Protection or Child In Need Plan. Please also cc the allocated Social Worker into the referral for their information.

Required specific information:

Please describe the presenting difficulties for which you are referring including details of the specific symptoms of concerns, intensity, frequency and contexts of the problem, any apparent antecedents/life events, duration at this severity, and the family’s reaction. Also be clear about what interventions have been tried and the outcome of these.
• If an Eating Disorder is suspected then please also refer to the GP as medical checks are required. The additional basic requirements for eating disorder referrals are weight and height and state you have referred to the GP. GPs complete an eating disorder fax and fax this information to SPA.

• If self harm is evident then please provide full information and complete the Pathos Self Injury Scale. (In the self harm section of this document.)

• ADHD referrals should be made jointly with the GP, Schools should provide a report which outlines clearly why a referral is being made for possible ADHD diagnosis and consider completing the Conners rating scale and enclosing these.

• ASD assessments for up to 16 year olds are to be sent to Paediatricians via the GP, not via SPA, unless there are associated mental health difficulties.

The SPA process
All referrals received into SPA are screened by a shift leader; this identifies whether referrals are urgent or routine.

Urgent referrals for specialist CAMHS (Tier 3) are dealt with by the SPA Urgent Pod (mini-team) for action on the same day. CAMHS are able to offer Priority appointments within 7 days of the receipt of referral. Please note if a child or young person needs to be seen immediately or within 48 hours then the appropriate action is to send them to Accident and Emergency, in an emergency please dial 999.

Referrals that do not meet the threshold for specialist CAMHS are signposted to other appropriate services.

Routine referrals are processed by the CAMHS pod within 14 days from receipt of the referral. A face to face assessment will be made within 28 days.

Children and young people who meet the threshold for specialist CAMHS will be offered a Choice appointment within 5 days and a choice of location for the initial appointment which may include a home visit, a clinic appointment or an agreed community venue or room supplied by another agency engaged with the family. A proactive approach to engagement will be taken including follow up of failure to opt in or DNA. Refusal to access service will not preclude the caring network and team around the child from receiving support in management.

If the problems deteriorate
Please always advise young people and their families to use the following options if difficulties escalate:

Contact the local team on the telephone number on the appointment letter if this has been received and ask to speak with the duty worker (between 09.00am – 5.00pm,) alternatively contact the Single Point of Access (SPA) at the telephone number above (between 08.00am – 7.00pm,)

For advice and telephone support from a mental health professional out-of-hours (between 5.00pm – 09.00am, 24 hours weekends and bank holidays) call the Mental Health Helpline on: 01438 843322.

Make an urgent appointment with their GP.

Attend Accident & Emergency if a child or young person requires urgent mental health support or in an emergency dial 999.

Case Studies

Example referral one
Carina has recently become known to social services after they received information from the school that she may be self harming and because she often has new bruises when she comes in to school. Carina’s family come from Poland and she joined the school at the end of year eight. Carina is now 13 and is currently in year nine. There are some difficulties in terms of Carina’s language, as she does not speak fluent English and so she is unable to communicate fully with others. Another student has informed the head of year that she believes that Carina is self harming. Little is known about Carina as she is new and she has not caused any other concern.

Is this a suitable referral?
This may be a suitable referral for CAMHS Targeted Team as the young person is known to social services and there is reason to believe that she may be self-harming. However, there is not enough information in this referral. The following information would be useful to include:
• Has the young person been spoken to about her current situation and whether or not she is self harming? If the young person is self harming, please see the dedicated page earlier in this document for more information regarding helpful questions to ask.
• Have children’s services had any other involvement with the family?
• Have any interventions within the community been tried, such as a school counsellor or Youth Connexions?
• Is the family open to any other services?
• What has Carina been referred for and why is it felt that CAMHS Targeted service is needed?

Example Referral Two
Oliver is currently in year eight and is 12 years old; he is often given internal and external exclusions at school. The school are concerned that this will eventually become permanent. Oliver often picks fights and is abusive to adults and young people, he has also been known to try and hurt himself at times. Oliver is currently open to children’s services due to safeguarding concerns. Oliver rarely shows remorse if he has caused another upset and he will walk away when he is challenged over such behaviour. Oliver’s attendance at school is good as he turns up every day but he rarely completes a day successfully due to his behaviour. Mum has stated that Oliver has contact with his Dad and that he is good with his younger siblings. However, Oliver will not accept boundaries at home and he is very defiant. In addition, Oliver will often go out and stay out until rather late. Oliver will not talk about where he goes or with whom and his Mother is concerned that he is using cannabis.
Is this a suitable referral?
This may be a suitable service for CAMHS Targeted Team, as Oliver is open to children’s services and he is at risk of permanent expulsion from school. However, it would be helpful to include the following information:

- Have the school used any interventions?
- Have the family been involved with any other service, such as Targeted Youth Services or Thriving families? These services work within the community and can give direct support to the young person and their family, such as by helping to enforce boundaries.
- Has the parent/carer had any support for parenting? This can often be the most helpful intervention for young people with challenging behaviour. Therefore, it may be the most suitable option as a first step.
- Why is it felt that CAMHS Targeted Team are needed and what is the young person being referred for?
- Are there any mental health concerns?

Example Referral Three
Charlie is 10 and is on the child protection register due to issues surrounding neglect. There has been a long history of social service involvement with the family, due to issues such as domestic violence, drugs and gang culture. Charlie’s mum has had involvement from Thriving Families and the school in order to support her but she is not engaging with the services; she is also struggling to cope. A legal planning meeting is due to take place in two weeks time.

Charlie has recently started to get into a lot of trouble at school. He does not have a friendship group and he will often resort to using his fists when faced with any confrontation. Charlie has seen an art therapist at school, which did improve things slightly. However, the previous art therapist left and Charlie is now refusing to see the new therapist as he felt that they were digging too deep. Charlie is being referred for talking therapy, so that he can have the time and space to talk about his feelings and so that he can start to make sense of his situation and any subsequent emotions.

Is this a suitable referral?
This is unlikely to be a suitable referral for the CAMHS Targeted Team. This is because the young person’s situation needs to be changed first, rather than the young person themselves. It is therefore not likely to be suitable at this point, as there is currently a legal planning meeting in place. It may be best to wait until after the meeting has taken place and once the outcome has been agreed.

Direct therapy is also unlikely to be helpful whilst the young person is still living in a neglectful or abusive situation. In addition, it does not appear that the carer would be able to support the young person at this stage, as they are not engaging with services. It may be best in this situation for us to hold a one off consultation in order to look into the situation more fully.
Example Referral Four

Lauren is 16 and is the oldest of a family of six. This referral has been made because she is currently feeling low in mood due to a number of pressures that she has had to deal with over the past 18 months. Lauren has previously taken on the role of main carer to her five younger siblings and she has also been exposed to inadequate and neglectful parenting. The care proceedings have been completed, with the decision that no children are to live at home with their parents and the youngest has moved on for adoption.

Lauren is now living in a stable foster placement under a full care order. However, Lauren is now working with many complex issues, such as: the break up of her family; her youngest sibling moving on for adoption; the loss and rejection from both of her parents; as well as the normal commitments for a 16 year old in terms of completing her GCSE’s.

Lauren is articulate and resilient but her experiences mean that she is currently struggling emotionally. Lauren has also recently started to self-harm, this is superficial and she states it is a coping mechanism for her. Lauren currently has no suicidal thoughts. Lauren has been seeing a school counsellor but it is felt that the chance to talk about her feelings outside of school would be helpful. Lauren is not currently open to any other services.

Is this a suitable referral?
This is a suitable referral for the CAMHS Targeted Team. This is because the young person is in a stable placement and so therapy would be supported at this point by her carer. The referral explains why Lauren has been referred and also what for. The referral also explains other services that have been tried within the community, that being a school counsellor. There is evidence that Lauren has been self-harming and the correct questions have been asked, relating to how deep she is cutting and whether she has any suicidal thoughts. As there is no suicidal ideation, this would be a normal referral.

Therefore, this case would be a suitable referral and a Consultation would be offered to the social worker. This is in order to find out more information and to determine whether CAMHS Targeted Team or another service would be most appropriate.

Example Referral Five
Sarah is 12 and a referral has been made to CAMHS Targeted Team as her foster carer, Kate, is struggling to cope with her challenging behaviour. Sarah suffered family trauma in her formative years, as she witnessed and was also a victim of domestic violence. Due to these past negative experiences, Sarah is holding a lot of negativity and resentment, which often emerges in violent and controlling behaviour towards Kate and anxiety on some occasions when they are separated. However, Sarah currently feels that she is not ready to engage and so Kate has been referred from Children’s Services.

Kate feels that she would like some support with regards to managing Sarah’s behaviour and supporting her anxiety issues. Kate would also like advice to help Sarah to start to think about and to understand her emotions. Kate is very much willing to engage and has already received support from community services. Kate has attended the Freedom Project, which has helped her to understand the cycle of domestic violence and she has also accessed parenting classes.
Is this a suitable referral?
This is a suitable referral for the CAMHS Targeted Team. This being because the young person is currently unwilling to engage but the foster carer would like support in order to help her to manage their situation better. Kate has received support within the community but would like further support for Sarah’s behaviour and anxiety issues from a targeted service.

The referral explains why Kate and Sarah have been referred and what Kate would like help with. As Kate is willing to engage and Sarah’s home life is now stable, a therapeutic intervention is likely to be helpful and supportive. Resources, such as helpful reading, could also be given to Kate to take home with her in order to understand Sarah’s situation better, so that she can fully support her.

A consultation would initially be offered in order to meet with the social worker and the carer. This could establish more about the situation and the best route forward, as well as to discuss what would benefit Kate most during the six sessions that we offer. It would also be useful to discuss whether Sarah is willing to receive support from a service within the community, such as a school counsellor or art therapy. Therefore, it is helpful for any professional or individual within Sarah’s support network to attend.
What can Social Care professionals do with children and young people to support their mental health and emotional wellbeing?

Using the assessment tools in this resource to scaffold a conversation with children and young people about their mental health can be a therapeutic process in itself.

In addition to the organisations, websites and helplines detailed in this resource, there are a number of approaches / interventions / interactions that social care professionals can deliver to support the mental health of the children and young people they work with, particularly as an early or step down intervention.

There is a range of training available to support one to one or family support including Protective Behaviours, for example (search this document for more information).

There are a number of resources such as books containing therapeutic activities which a non clinical professional could work through with a child or young person such as Life Story work.

A range of websites also exist – these are a sample:

- http://www.getselfhelp.co.uk/index.html - This provides tools and resources to support young people with mental health issues, such as therapy work sheets and a step-by-step guide to low level cognitive behavioural therapy.

- www.therapistaid.com – This website includes free tools for working with mental health issues, such as therapy worksheets, education handouts and articles.

- http://psychology.tools/ - This website develops free materials for professionals working with mental health. There are links to download work sheets, audios and other therapist materials which may be helpful when working with a young person who has mental health issues.

- http://www.moodjuice.scot.nhs.uk/ - This website is designed to help you to think about emotional problems and to work towards solving them. Each area has a set of links attached to it providing useful information and guidance.

Please also see the websites outlined for children and young people in this resource and online counselling and support.

Websites and helplines
Websites and helplines

At an early stage of concern, there is the opportunity to signpost families and young people to information and support from national organisations through websites or helplines. This information can also serve to educate professionals supporting children, young people and families. As far as possible, HCC has ascertained that the website links here are accurate and the website content is satisfactory. Before suggesting the website to families, children or young people, or before using the materials on national websites, practitioners must make themselves familiar with the information and be reasonably confident that this is the correct course of action for family or individual. If you have any doubts concerning the information on these sites, please take advice before using it either from your supervisor or from relevant services in Hertfordshire.
